MONEY
MEN
PLOT
$1 BILLION
HIT ON TRUMP

By BRAD CHADWICK
in Washington DC

DONALD Trump's Secret Service bodyguards are investigating fears that shadowy international money men are plotting to ASSASSINATE the US President.

Stock markets around the world have PLUMMETED after Trump announced swingeing import taxes and TRILLIONS have been wiped from the value of big firms.

Now there are concerns that plans are afoot to do away with President Trump with talk of a ONE BILLION DOLLAR bounty on his head.

Retail boss complaint is rejected

RETAIL tycoon Sir Philip Green's human rights were not breached when he was named in Parliament as the holder of an injunction against the Telegraph newspaper, the European Court of Human Rights has ruled.

The former Top Shop boss had obtained a court injunction stopping the paper from publishing allegations of misconduct made against him by five ex-employees who had agreed to keep details of their complaints confidential under non-disclosure agreements.

He "categorically" denied any unlawful sexual behaviour.

He was named in Parliament as the businessman behind the injunction by Lord Hain in 2018, using parliamentary privilege – which allows members to speak freely and their comments to be reported without fear of being sued.

Last minute islands deal

MAURITIUS is demanding more money for the Chagos Islands in a last-ditch attempt to wrangle a better deal from Sir Keir Starmer.

The negotiations have reached their final stages after Donald Trump, the US president, signed off on Britain giving away the islands. Sources said Mauritius had demanded more money in lease payments for the Diego Garcia military base and a new pot of development funding, on top of the £9 billion already agreed.

The UK said it would not increase its overall spending on the deal, but may pay more of the 99 years rent in advance.

UK firms to be 'given advantage' in government contracts

STARMER TO BUY BRITISH

MAJOR public sector projects will be told to 'buy British' under plans to protect UK industry from Donald Trump's tariffs.

Sir Keir Starmer is understood to be considering changing procurement rules to give an advantage to British firms bidding for government contracts.

It could apply to new transport infrastructure, offshore wind or defence investments that will be announced in this year's industrial strategy and spending review.

The plan is modelled on Labour's Buy, Make and Sell More in Britain campaign, launched by Chancellor Rachel Reeves in 2021, when the party was in opposition.

Government sources said the plan had been revived amid concerns about the vulnerability of the UK's manufacturing base and the effect of Trump's tariffs on British firms.

On Monday, Ms Reeves and Sir Keir told factory workers at a Jaguar Land Rover plant in Solihull that 'we have your back' as the Government scrambled to assess the impact of mass market sell-offs.

Downing Street said to expect more 'pro-growth moments' in the coming days, emphasising the need for 'resilience' in the UK economy.

The biggest announcement of Labour's latest growth drive came on Sunday night, when No 10 said it would reform targets for car manufacturers to produce more electric vehicles (EVs) by adding more flexibility and lowering fines.

Sir Keir has exempted small manufacturers, including most of the supercar sector, from the EV mandate completely, and allowed the continued sale of petrol and diesel vans until 2035 – five years later than planned.

PM 'ignored warnings' over arrested MP

PM KEIR Starmer has been accused of ignoring repeated calls to investigate a Labour MP accused of bullying and harassment.

When he was leader of the Opposition, Sir Keir was warned in writing that Dan Norris (above) had been accused of bullying and harassment in June last year. Mr Norris would go on to win Sir Jacob Rees-Mogg's seat at the general election.

Separately, at the weekend, the 65-year-old MP was suspended by the party after he was arrested over allegations of sexual offences against a girl, rape, child abduction and misconduct in a public office.

In the letter to Sir Keir, former charity boss Andy Knott told him his prospective MP was facing legal action for bullying and harassment, actions that he alleged were "aggravated by his at 'any cost' approach to gaining a seat in Parliament". He had already made a formal complaint of harassment to the party and senior officials, Sir Keir was told.

Britain just is not producing

BRITAIN has suffered an "almost unprecedented" plunge in productivity over the past five years in a fresh setback for growth ambitions.

The Resolution Foundation said GDP per head slumped by 0.5 per cent between 2019 and 2024 – the worst drop since the 1970s outside of the financial crisis.

This underlines the scale of the challenge facing the sluggish UK economy as Chancellor Rachel Reeves scrambles to identify "growth-enhancing" policies to help offset the blow from Donald Trump's trade war.

It will be seen as an indication of the growing gulf with the much more buoyant US economy, where productivity has risen by 9.1pc in the past five years.

DONALD Trump channelled Corporal Jones in Dad's Army – by warning Yanks DON'T PANIC!

The President spoke after trillions of dollars were wiped from global markets by his tariff onslaught.

In an apparent dig at wets in his own Republican Party, the US president told critics not to be "a Panican" – coining a new phrase which he described as "a new party based on weak and stupid people".

China was threatened with additional 50 per cent import tariffs on Monday as Trump remained defiant despite warnings the US was probably already in recession.

Writing on Truth Social, the

By ABBIE HAY

President said: "The United States has a chance to do something that should have been done DECADES AGO. Don't be Weak! Don't be Stupid! Don't be a PANICAN (A new party based on Weak and Stupid people!).

"Be Strong, Courageous, and Patient, and GREATNESS will be the result!"

Recession

Stock markets in Asia and Europe rallied slightly but Larry Fink, chief executive of BlackRock, the world's largest money manager overseeing £11.6 trillion in assets, warned that another 20% decline in global stocks was possible.

Goldman Sachs believes there is now a 45% chance the world's biggest economy will suffer a downturn this year, the second time in a week it has slashed the odds of recession.

China described Trump's tariffs as "blackmail" as it vowed to fight levies 'to the end'.

"The US threat to escalate tariffs against China is a mistake on top of a mistake, which once again exposes the US's blackmailing nature," China's commerce ministry said in a statement.

"If the US insists on having its way, China will fight to the end."

The ministry reiterated that it sought "dialogue" with the United States, and that there were "no winners in a trade war".

Meanwhile, cracks have started to form in the Trump administration, with Elon Musk posting a video of renowned economist Milton Friedman explaining the benefits of tariff free trade.

One political commentator said: "Trouble at mill!"

IRAN NUKE TALKS 'THIS WEEKEND'

THE US and Iran will hold "direct talks" over a possible nuclear deal on Saturday, says Donald Trump.

The meeting has also been confirmed by Iran's foreign minister who said talks would be "indirect" but could be "as much an opportunity as it is a test".

The US president said discussions between Washington and Tehran would be at "very high level" and warned it would be a "very bad day for Iran" if no agreement was reached.

Last month, Trump raised the prospect of military action against Iran after its supreme leader Ayatollah Khamenei publicly rejected the offer of direct talks.

Trump disclosed the talks after a White House meeting with Israel's Benjamin Netanyahu, who has also previously raised the prospect of attacking Iran to stop it from acquiring nuclear weapons.

Speaking in the Oval Office, Trump said: "We have a very big meeting on Saturday and dealing with them directly. And maybe a deal is going to be made, that would be great."

"Iran cannot have a nuclear weapon, and if talks aren't successful, I actually think it'll be a very bad day for Iran."

KERRY'S BOOB JOB BAN!

KERRY Katona has revealed she was BANNED from having a boob job because she'd been on holiday.

And the OnlyFans beauty revealed that her daughters begged her not to rebook the op.

The former Atomic Kitten star, 44, admitted that her children would actually rather she didn't undergo any further cosmetic surgery.

In her column for OK! magazine, Kerry explained that her daughters begged her to 'leave it for now' when she considered rebooking her boob job after her recent trip to Thailand put a stop to her surgery plans.

However, the mum-of-five confessed that she already has plans to go under the knife during the summer.

She wrote: "I headed to get my boob job the other day and ended up not being able to get it done, I didn't realise that you can't get surgery after flying and I had just returned from Thailand."

"I could have rebooked it, but I'm going back to Thailand next week so I

RAF lift ban on tea cakes after 60 yrs

TUNNOCK'S Tea Cakes have been deemed fit to fly by the RAF – after they were banned from flights 60 years ago.

The Scottish snack was a favourite of airmen to help stave off hunger while flying nuclear bombers on long training missions at the height of the Cold War.

However, they were added to the RAF's no-fly list in the 1960s after some tea cakes were said to have exploded in a cockpit.

During a training mission in 1965, a captain and student pilot forgot they had placed unwrapped tea cakes above their instrument panels.

When the captain pulled an emergency depressurising switch, the tea cakes blew up, causing pieces of choc and marshmallow to hit the windscreen, flight controls and the men's uniforms.

After rigorous new testing, the RAF Centre of Aerospace Medicine in Henlow, Beds, says the snacks don't explode and are safe in planes.

Skinny jabs may prevent dementia

WEIGHT-LOSS jabs can cut the risk of dementia, a study suggests.

Boffins at the University of Florida say semaglutide in particular, present in popular jabs Wegovy and Ozempic, showed promise in cutting the risk of conditions that impair memory and thought processes.

Experts said the study was encouraging and called for further research to shed light on how these drugs affect the brain.

WE all knew that Liz Hurley has an amazing pair of milkers – but this is wild!

Liz went braless and flashed her knickers under a sheer pink dress as she drank milk in a quirky new photshoot posted to Instagram.

The Brit actress, 59, also wore a pair of platform shoes.

She displayed her fun side as she gave photographers a cheeky insight into her bare-looking Almond milk is a trendy woke alternative to proper milk, made by milking nuts.

She swiftly grabbed the milk and started glugging it from the carton but, to everyone's amusement, the actress spilled some down her cheek – leading some observers to comment that it looked like SPUNK.

The star then continued to pose by the fridge and the milk before wandering to other parts of the house.

Elizabeth played Miley Cyrus's Something Beautiful over the behind-the-scenes clip and went on to caption the post with seven love heart emojis.

Brand: It was normal at the time

RUSSELL Brand has said his "promiscuous" behaviour was considered normal in a "diabolical culture" after being charged with rape and sexual assault.

The comedian and actor insisted he was innocent of allegations, but had been "captured by a kind of darkness" in a society that, at the time, celebrated the "relentless pursuit of pleasure".

Brand, 50, is charged with two counts of sexual assault, one count of indecent assault, one count of rape and one count of oral rape over a six-year period.

"In those giddy and hedonistic days, those ludicrous, dark days... I must have been captured by a kind of darkness," he posted on his social media account.

"But for 22-and-a-half years, I've been drug and alcohol free, and I have a pretty good memory of accounts. 'I also know that I am a person that very much respects the idea of consent. I have complete respect for the system of justice and will be fully cooperative, knowing in my heart I'm completely innocent of these allegations.'"

Brum bin strike may go national

LEFT-WING union bosses are threatening a Summer of Stench - warning that the Birmingham bin strikes could be taken NATIONWIDE.

Clare Keogh, boss of Unite, said anger at council cuts was growing across Britain among refuse workers and there was "massive potential this will escalate".

"In Birmingham, and many other councils, our members have been prepared to walk out, saying 'this isn't good enough' and 'we're not going to take any more cuts'," she said.

She added: "Anger is growing, and we're seeing that in the increasing number of strike ballots we're taking forward."

Unions are expecting a response to pay claims for council workers across the UK, and Ms Keogh warned of further strikes if they were offered deals below inflation.

She spoke as the all-out strike over job and pay cuts in Birmingham entered its fifth week, with fears the warmer weather will increase the health risks posed by an estimated 17,000 tonnes of uncollected waste and soaring rat population.

Money men plot $1BILLION hit on Trump...

THEY WON'T MISS THIS TIME!

BLOODED BUT UNBOWED: Trump

DONALD Trump's Secret Service bodyguards are investigating fears that international moneymen are plotting to ASSASSINATE the President.

Stock markets around the world have PLUMMETED after Trump announced swinging import taxes and TRILLIONS have been wiped from the value of big firms.

Now there are concerns that plans are afoot to do away with President Trump and restore the old globalist order.

A Washington insider said: "It's well known that John F Kennedy was murdered because he threatened the military-industrial complex and Trump has cost big business a lot more than Kennedy ever did."

"Big business backed Trump but his America First policies are now costing them big. There are murmurs that he may be taken out."

Rumours of a hit were hinted at in the posh Daily Telegraph earlier this week in an editorial which read: "Were I a foreign manufacturer, I'd wager this policy (tariffs) will be reversed at least by 2028 when a new president is elected - or big business puts out a hit on Trump, because they'll tolerate anything but the devaluing of the stock price. The next gun that fires at the president will probably be made in America."

From BRAD CHADWICK

news@sundaysport.co.uk

What's more, the money men have the ideal fall guy in place - Iran.

Iran's Kayhan newspaper has called for Trump's assassination.

Multiple news sources confirm the editor's statement about firing bullets into Trump's head.

Our source said: "This would be a huge and sinister operation with a payday for the assassins of around a billion dollars."

"Then rogue elements within the US government would get to work pointing the finger at Iran."

"If it ever emerged that big business was behind any attempt on the President's life, there would be civil war in the US."

"It's chilling".

Eau no! The Savage pong from Macron

EMMANUEL Macron wears so much cologne that aides "scent" his presence before he enters the room, according to a new book on life at the Elysée Palace.

In what is seen as a deliberate "attribute of power," Mr Macron sprays on "industrial amounts" of Dior Eau Savage, according to a new book.

Extracts from The Tragedy of the Elysée, by Le Parisien journo Olivier Beaumont, say Mr Macron splashes on the cologne "at all hours of the day".

The 100ml bottles of the eau de parfum retail at £104 and Mr Macron always has "a bottle always to hand, particularly in the drawers of his desk".

The book claims: "Visitors may find themselves overcome by the floral and musky scent, as refined as it is powerful. It is a sign of one thing: that the president is in the building."

"Just as Louis XIV made his perfumes an attribute of power when he paraded through Versailles, Emmanuel Macron uses his as an element of his authority at the Elysée."

Check your privilege, Westminster

A FLAGSHIP Labour council is telling staff to undergo a "privilege" test as part of its efforts to combat unconscious bias against ethnic minorities.

Westminster city council is also seeking to boost recruitment of non-white candidates for senior posts by giving them preferential treatment over equally-qualified white applicants - and ensuring there is at least one ethnic minority candidate on shortlists for jobs.

All managers who hire workers must undergo mandatory unconscious bias and inclusive recruitment training as part of the council's ambition to raise the proportion of non-white employees, including senior managers, to match the 45 per cent in the borough's resident population.

Insiders said they are offered a virtual "privilege walk", in which staff are expected to assess their social advantage by gaining or losing points in a quiz based on factors such as whether your parents read to you, if you drive a new car, and if you have never been stopped and searched by police.

NOW TRAVEL SHOWS ARE RACIST

AROUND THE WORLD:
Michael Palin

By JENNIFER SMALLBONE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

DO you like travel shows presented by Michael Portillo, Michael Palin or Monty Don?

Well that might be because you're a massive RACIST!

Travelogues shown by major broadcasters are dominated by white, male presenters, according to a new study conducted by the International Broadcasting Trust.

The research into the BBC, ITV, Channel 4 and Channel 5, found that presenter-led travel shows account for 58 per cent of their international programming, rising to 84 per cent on ITV1.

But there is a "distinct lack of diversity" among the presenters of these shows.

Ninety per cent of the most frequently appearing presenters of these shows were men, with Michael Portillo and James Martin appearing for more than 100 hours over the past two years.

They were followed by Michael Palin, Simon Reeve, Monty Don and Rick Stein.

The only woman to feature on the top 10 list was the singer and television presenter Jane McDonald, who presented programmes including Channel 5's

Lost in Japan, while the newsreader Clive Myrie was the only non-white presenter for his Italian Roadtrip and Caribbean Adventure.

Both were on-air for fewer than 30 hours.

Martin Scott, a professor of media and global development at the University of East Anglia and the author of the report, said that the problem was the "cumulative effect" rather than criticising the use of any one presenter.

"You might only get certain kinds of stories being told and the way they're being told may be only in certain ways," he said. "And diverse British audiences aren't always going to see themselves reflected."

It's not the first time prodnoses have had former Tory Minister Portillo in their sights.

In 2023, Michael Portillo's Great British Railway Journeys was bizarrely described as "encouraging far-right sympathies" in a report by useless anti-radicalisation outfit Prevent.

Getting hot in the Trossachs

A SAUNA on the banks of Loch Lomond has been approved - despite fears members of the public could get a view of the Trossachs.

The Hot Tottie sauna opened in 2024 without planning permission, on the banks of Loch Lomond and has quickly become an outdoor sauna hotspot.

It prompted people who live in nearby Luss to complain of visitors being "naked" and "changing in the street".

The sauna is charging users £15 per hour for a weekend "seat" at the sauna, or a one-hour private session for £100.

Hot Tottie co-owner Kieran Izzett commented: "We started up as a chance to bring our dream to reality for everyone.

"People love getting back to nature, and that's all we want to promote without causing fuss."

Trump's hit with £626k legal costs

DONALD Trump has been ordered to pay £626,000 in legal costs after unsuccessfully suing a British-based firm over allegations that he took part in a piss-sex orgy.

The US president, 78 (above), brought a data protection claim against Orbis Business Intelligence in 2022.

Its founder, Christopher Steele, authored a dossier which carried allegations, denied by Mr Trump, that he had been "compromised" by Russian security service FSB.

It also included claims he'd taken part in "sex parties" in St Petersburg and engaged in "golden showers" with hookers in Moscow.

Mrs Justice Steyn threw out the claim in February last year without ruling on the truth of the allegations, and ordered Mr Trump to pay Orbis' costs "of the entire claim" – including an initial payment of £290,000 which a hearing in January Mr Trump had "decided not to pay".

That led to him being prevented from taking part in a hearing to decide the total legal bill – which now stands at £626,058.98.

Commons people may not pass

THE House of Commons is recruiting spies to test whether its security guards are racist.

Parliamentary authorities are looking for "mystery shoppers" to roam the corridors of Westminster to see whether they have their passes checked.

The service, which will cost £60,000, is designed to find evidence of "bias" among security staff.

A report by the workplace equality network ParliREACH had previously found that ethnic minorities were more frequently asked to have their passes checked when walking around Parliament.

The group argued that while "overt racism" was against parliamentary rules, "micro-aggressions and other less overt forms of prejudice were poorly understood and could not therefore be tackled."

"All groups described themselves and other BAME colleagues being more frequently and more forcefully asked to have their passes checked," the report said.

The security teams have since been told to focus on people acting suspiciously, rather than their appearance.

MISS HIRED TEEN PUPIL TO KILL HER HUSBAND

HELD: Stephanie Demetrius

A TEACHER was busted for allegedly offering a high school student £1,500 to bump off her estranged husband in a bizarre murder-for-hire plot.

Stephanie Demetrius, 44, was arrested after the student's mum discovered texts between her son and the teacher at Academy for Urban Scholars High School in Columbus, Ohio.

The pair had been discussing the lethal plan so she contacted the police. "This teacher was trying to groom this young person into committing murder," said Sgt James Fuqua of the Columbus Division of Police.

"This was a situation where a parent was able to capture things inside this young person's phone and contact the authorities."

Police said Demetrius approached the student at the Columbus school on March 26 and offered him the cash to kill her soon-to-be ex-husband, giving the lad £190 as a down payment.

A phone call was then recorded between Demetrius and her would-be hitman in which she confirmed the remainder of the payment.

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The teacher, who was in the process of divorcing her husband, whom she married in 2004, also told the student her estranged spouse worked from home and noted when her kids would be out of the house.

"When asked if the neighbours would hear the gunfire, she advised they don't care about the neighbours," court documents state.

The mother-of-four appeared in Franklin County Municipal Court, where her public defender denied the allegations and blasted the claims as a fabrication.

Prosecutor Parker Schwartz said Demetrius exhibited "possessive and controlling behaviour," citing previous homicidal threats levied against her husband that led to him obtaining a protection order.

Demetrius is being held on remand and is prohibited from having any contact with her husband or the minor involved in the case.

She is due back in court for a preliminary hearing on Friday.

A MAN was caught knocking one out in the back of an ambulance after being found lying unconscious with his trousers down.

Bruce Gardener, 68, was found beside two empty wine bottles in Norwich on September 27th.

Norwich Magistrates' Court was told he later began masturbating in the back of the ambulance.

Gardner pleaded guilty to threatening and abusive behaviour.

A charge of outraging public decency had been withdrawn as it could not be proved an ambulance was a public place.

Gardner, who has 322 previous offences, was fined £314 but it was reduced to £160 for time served in custody.

CARER HAD BODY BURNT WITHOUT TELLING FAMILY

A WOMAN hired to care for an elderly man ordered he be taken off life support and his body cremated — without telling his family.

Linda Polk, 52, fraudulently obtained power of attorney over the 78-year-old man. When he fell ill and was put on life support, Polk ordered that the man be taken off life support, then promptly had his body cremated.

According to police, Polk (pictured) never told his family that he died.

Polk allegedly "authored a fraudulent power of attorney documents in the victim's home" according to police in Clinton, Michigan.

Cops added her criminal activities had been going on for months before the man died, saying she "embezzled a large sum of money from the victim and opened, and used, credit cards in his name."

Polk now faces eight charges, including first-degree homicide, forgery, embezzlement from a vulnerable adult, identity theft, and two counts of financial transactions for illegal use.

Chessboard killer admits to 11 more

A RUSSIAN serial killer jailed for life for killing 48 people has said he will admit to 11 more murders.

Alexander Pichushkin, 50, targeted his vulnerable victims around Bitsevsky Park in Moscow.

His killing spree lasted from 1992 to 2006, and he was then jailed in 2007.

Russian media nicknamed him the "chessboard killer" because he told detectives he had planned to place a coin on every square of a 64-square chessboard for each of his victims.

The serial killer has been detained in a remote prison in Russia's Arctic, the Polar Owl prison, since being sentenced.

Now he has told investigators he is prepared to confess to 11 further killings of men and women, Russia's prison system said in a statement on the Telegram messenger app.

PAIN IN THE MEX

ILLEGAL migrant Julian Estrada-Garcia, 36, from Mexico, was booted out of the US for the FORTIETH time after officials caught him in Houston, Texas.

IF you're reading this, it shows you like reading.

And today is the day where the world celebrates those who bring reading to the masses.

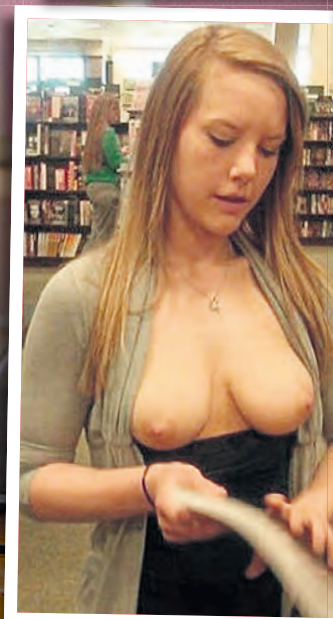

It's National Library Outreach Day, which marks the work of mobile libraries and other schemes that bring books to the back-of-beyond or to those who cannot get to the library themselves.

Pages

It's wonderful work and work we can celebrate in our own special way...

By printing pages of topless and naked ladies among the bookshelves.

#MY SEX FANTASY

'I get on my knees and they all circle me'

...WITH LUCY LI, 34GG, FROM NEWCASTLE

I HAVE a very rude confession... I get really turned on by the idea of being spit roasted.

My wildest fantasy is flirting with some guys at a party, a joke being made about a gangbang and then us all getting carried away.

About four guys are kissing and caressing me. I'd strip off and be wearing some sexy lacy underwear and high heels.

I get on my knees and they all circle me and get their hard cocks out. I greedily begin sucking them all.

I'd love to be the centre of attention with all eyes on me, and them all desiring me. It's so animalistic.

The blokes all get more and more fired up until one of them pulls my thong aside and penetrates me.

I'm sucking one dick and wanking two fellas off while being pounded from behind.

They all take it in turns to fuck me, and I come just as they all jizz all over my arse and tits. Hmm I'm horny just thinking about it!

Mayor sex video was 'accident'

Stefanie Stalheim, city attorney of Minot, North Dakota, opened up her phone and was startled to find she had been sent an explicit video of her city's mayor, Tom Ross, w*inking on camera.

"He knew the risk he was taking by engaging in such behaviour," the complaint said.

He claims that he meant the video for his girlfriend.

He added that he had a good track record with others in the workplace and has never sexually harassed anyone at work.

Officials told 'don't have a Chinese!'

The policy, which affects US government officials, was put into effect by departing US ambassador Nicholas Burns in January shortly before he left China.

It's not uncommon for American diplomats in other countries to date locals – or marry them.

But Burns broadened it to a blanket ban on such relations with any Chinese citizen in China in January, days before President Donald Trump took office.

The new policy covers US missions in mainland China, including certain embassies in Beijing.

The White Lotus star, 31, has admitted that she was once bullied for her appearance, and despite the positive response now, she's grown tired about speaking about her teeth on multiple occasions.

"I understand what it represents. People feel

"It does feel a bit weird that the thing I got bullied for is now the thing that everyone's, like 'wool' "

"It's still the thing that's defining me."

Aimee had previously admitted that she was initially nervous to star alongside some huge Hollywood names in The White Lotus. However, she now loves how their lifestyle – and her looks – set her apart.

Speaking to The Hollywood Reporter, Sex Education Aimee remarked: "These people live in Hollywood. I live in my little flat in South East London."

"I'm so British that I wasn't sure how to handle being around so many people who are so confident. All I ever do is take the p*** out of myself."

When the comments were reported on the website of the hate-filled Daily Mail, though, teeth were the last thing on readers' minds.

One quipped: "Didn't even notice her teeth with those wangers"

Another leered: "Great pair, too!"

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

The binmen know Labour will cave

EVER wondered how to get a job on newspapers?

It used to mean leaving school at 16, applying to the local rag, then hopefully climbing up the greasy pole and eventually landing a berth in Fleet Street.

Now, though, it's staying on at school for sixth form, then going to a "modest" – ie: shit – university, to gain a second-class degree in something equally shit, like "media studies".

Next, tens of thousands in debt and loaded with as much bitterly sour left-wing propaganda that first school and then uni have stuffed into you like a right-on Bagpudding, you're ready to tell the world what's what.

Carpet

And you'll assume that the Guardian has a beautiful corner office complete with a "global majority", one-armed assistant, waiting for you to tap away your every inner thought as you sip thoughtfully on oat milk while your gay emotional support llama grazes on the office carpet of vegan turf...

Just ask anyone who works in newspapers what job applications look like.

They're packed full of wannabes who can't spell "right-wing" but curiously can spell "I'm ADHD", "I'm dyslexic", "I'm a non-binary Pilates guru", or who seem to think their CV looks a whole lot better with added rainbow emojis and close up snaps of nose-rings.

But once their ridiculous dreams of not getting paid by the Guardian to write shite even Guardian readers won't ever read anyway are shattered, if they're very, very lucky, it's back to getting a job on the local rag.

And there they will discover, as all reporters do, that in among the many reader gripes from John O'Groats to Land's End, there are three subjects that will always fill a letter's page.

They are, and very much in this order: Dog shit, litter, and bins.

They beat council tax (why?), councils in general (useless), government (bastards), police (super bastards unless they're superheroes), NHS (amazing, or appalling), and even the utter c**ts who insist on riding their bicycles on pavements despite the gazillion cycle lanes taxpayers have been crowbarred into providing.

But in Birmingham right now, of course, it's the tens of thousands of tons of household rubbish that remains to be collected because of a pay dispute between the corpy and their binmen and women.

Crawlers

The result is disease-spreading crawlers like rats the size of XL bullies, and flying vermin like pigeons ripping flimsy binbags apart, and the inevitable stench of rotten everything pervading every lungful.

And yet it wasn't meant to be like this, was it?

Being green and separating our rubbish into a multitude of colourful bins, boxes and containers was supposed to lead us into a shiny new health nirvana.

Air so clean we could eat our dinners off it.

The reality is that each lungful of not-so fresh air drawn in Brum at the moment is likely giving local undertakers a decent semi-on.

And when the bone collectors are getting sexually excited, you just know we're all doomed.

All because the striking unions know they've got a plant Number 10 who'll eventually give them anything they ask for.

Well done, Labour. Another blinder!

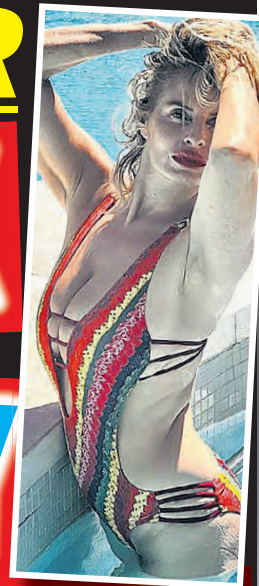

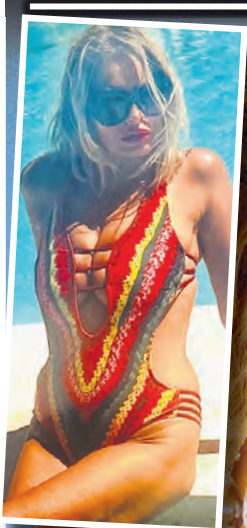

WELL done to the Eggs Run motorcycle riders, who on Sunday did their usual annual charity ride to raise thousands in cash and Easter Eggs for kids in hospitals in or around Wirral, where I live.

Not least because they left no dog shit or litter and actually used the bins.

SHE was one of the BIGGEST glamour modelling sensations of the 1980s and Nineties...

And now Natalie Jay is back with a BANG!

Aged 50, Natalie is bursting back onto the glamour scene after setting up her own Fanvue page.

She explained: "I thought, 'Why not?' and reading about Fanvue it seemed like the ideal platform for me to return to modelling."

Natalie hopes her page will be popular with her old fans and draw a new generation of admirers.

She explained: "There are probably 18 and 19-year-old lads out there whose dads used to look at my boobs in Sunday Sport back in the day."

"It's amazing to think I can still be modelling full-frontal."

Blackmail claim of sex Miss

A MARRIED teacher accused of molesting a 15-year-old student told police that she's being "blackmailed" by the teen — and that she was targeted for being "good looking."

Christina Formella, 30, a teacher at Downers Grove South High School in Downers Grove, Illinois, insisted to cops she's a "good person," but that everybody comes after her because of her looks. The sporty blonde denied having sex with the teenage student.

Formella — who married her college sweetheart in August last year — allegedly sexually assaulted the boy in December 2023, prosecutors said.

But she claimed that the student had broken into her phone and used her number to send the inappropriate messages to her as a "blackmail" plot.

Formella was charged with aggravated criminal sexual abuse and criminal sexual assault, and was released on the condition that she not enter the school grounds or have contact with anybody under 18.

She has also been placed on paid leave from her job.

Thief yelled 'Don't hurt my chicken!'

A 50-YEAR-OLD man has appeared in court after being charged as a chicken thief.

The man broke into his ex-girlfriend's house and stealing her chicken, according to authorities in Kitsap County, Washington state.

The call for help came from a woman who said her former boyfriend invaded her home and snatched her pet chicken, named Polly.

He allegedly screamed, "I've got Polly" several times before running away — chicken in hand.

Police found the man hiding in the woods.

Bodycam footage shows the man hiding in bushes as cops approach him at gunpoint.

He can be heard yelling, "Don't hurt my chicken!" as a deputy quickly reassures him, "I won't hurt your chicken."

The man had only been released from custody less than three hours before the incident, the sheriff's office said.

Polly the chicken has been returned to her family safe and sound, and the man was charged with burglary and violating an order of protection.

THE most anticipated dystopian series on Netflix, Black Mirror, is back!

The show returns for a seventh series tomorrow.

Creators Charlie Brooker and Netflix dropped the trailer to season seven last week, revealing it will have six episodes with details about the cast, synopsis, run time and more revealed.

This is also the first time a Black Mirror episode will have a sequel.

The series has a star-studded cast which includes Rashida Jones, Issa Rae, Awkwafina, Cristin Milioti, Emma Corrin, ex-Doctor Who Peter Capaldi and Rosy McEwan.

Happily, we have pics of Emma and Rosy's boobs!

Based on early hints, it looks like viewers could be looking at another brilliant run for the show, complete with several new dystopian visions — and indeed Brooker previously hinted that things could get even darker than usual this time around.

"We're doing some things we've not done before," he told Deadline last year.

"People can expect emotion and, hopefully, a good mix of chills."

"We did a couple of horror stories in season 6, which we label as Red Mirror. But this time around, the episodes are all, in a way, like OG Black Mirror."

He added: "I wrote one script, and the general consensus was that it was one of the bleakest, heaviest gut punches yet."

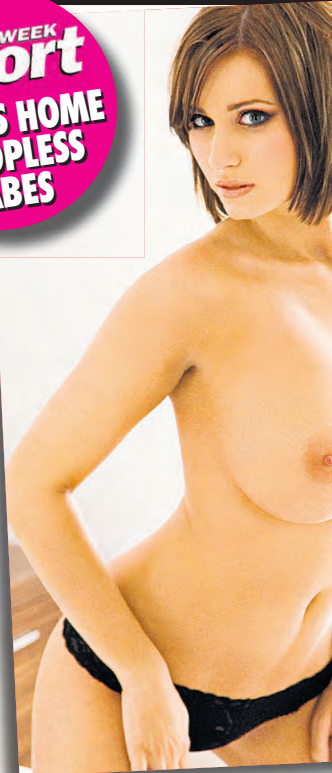

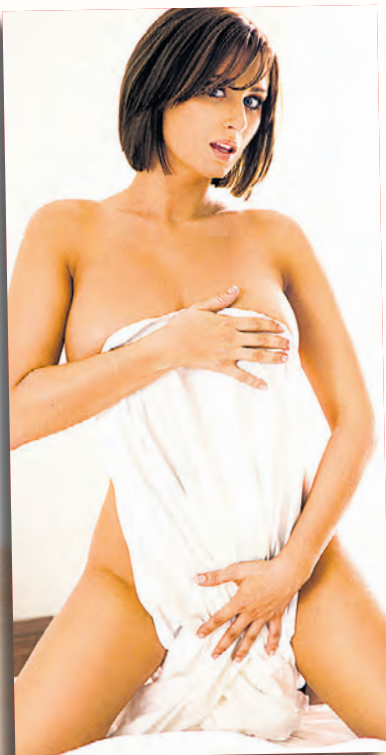

"There's also a couple of techy episodes and ones that are making people cry."

"So, hopefully, it's a full emotional workout!"

Dear Tess,

I WORK for a delivery firm and take parcels all over the country. Over the years I have built up quite a regular "round" of online shoppers.

And I have one or two ladies who have come to expect a "special" delivery from me.

My favourite is a blonde who is younger than me but willingly spreads 'em every time I call.

Recently, I was dropping off a parcel for her – which turned out to be a copy of the Kama Sutra.

She thumbed through it and had us both naked in an instant. She was surprisingly moist and guided my eight-incher inside her.

Then I rammed her good and hard, just how she likes it. Now she wants me to go through the book with her, but she lives miles away from me – and I'm married.

What shall I do?

KS, Cumbria

Tess says...

KEEP shagging, the Kama Sutra will spice up your sex life at home too.

Dear Tess,

I TOOK up cycling during the lockdown and it's totally changed my luck with women.

I spotted a busty blonde out for a walk the other week as I went for a ride around some country lanes.

At first I pretended there was something wrong with my bike and stopped near her.

We got chatting and I ended up doing her in the field behind a hedge where we couldn't be seen.

And a couple of nights ago I saw a tasty brunette out for a ride – and I pulled her, too!

She gave great head and loved it doggy-style.

The problem is, after all this cycling and shagging I've done my back in and now I can't go out for a ride.

What should I do?

RD, west Midlands

Tess says...

Big-boobed stunna cheated on me with big-belly bloke

Dear Tess,

I'M 24 and my girlfriend is 20. She's a beautiful, blonde, with big boobs and a tiny, firm arse.

All my mates are dead jealous and I've even noticed the fat, old fella up the road eyeing her up.

Last week I got home from work early and heard strange noises coming from our bedroom upstairs.

I thought it might be a burglar, so I crept up the stairs ready to have a go at whoever was there.

But I got a shock when I got to the bedroom. The door was slightly ajar and I could see this big bloke doing my bird!

His massive, hairy belly slapped against her perfect bum and his hands gripped her waist as he pounded her from behind.

She seemed to be loving it as he banged away for what seemed an age.

Then he laid her on her back and rammed her hard before eventually shooting his load on her tits.

I left without them noticing and now I've got a big decision to make.

Should I tell her I know and risk losing a beautiful blonde with an amazing body?

Or should I keep quiet and keep the peace?

Sex tape viewing led to a thrilling threesome

Dear Tess,

MY boyfriend asked me if he could film us in bed and I thought "Why not?"

Although I'm 45, I'm proud of my firm body and ample 36DD boobs and I'm certainly not ashamed to show them off.

So one night he set up the camcorder and filmed us as we got down to it.

I found it a real turn-on being filmed as I swallowed his penis. He banged me in several positions before finishing me off doggy-style over the edge of the bed.

Filthy

We watched the film together several times after, and every time we ended up shagging each other's brains out.

Then one evening I came back from work early and I heard someone laugh and shout out "God, she knows how to f*ck!"

When I peeped through the gap in the door, I saw my man and his best mate watching our private movie!

Far from being shocked or annoyed, it gave me a real thrill to think that some hunky blokes were getting a kick watching me being so filthy.

I yelled I was home and my bloke rapidly switched the TV off. I was feeling horny as hell and after a quick shower I slipped on a silky short nightie with no undies and went downstairs.

I sat in front of my boyfriend's mate and deliberately opened my legs. He gawped at my minge and soon had a bulge in his trousers.

I went to the TV and pressed play before telling my other half how he'd been a naughty boy, then returned to the sofa and told him to come and get some more.

Within seconds, he'd buried his head between my legs.

I grabbed his mate, unzipped his trousers to release his thick manhood and began sucking long and hard while pulling the shaft up and down.

Groaning, he asked my fella if it was okay to have sex with me and, before he could answer, I replied that someone better had because I was gagging for it.

So my man got up from between my legs and his mate started thrusting in and out of me like a train while my fella put his cock to my lips and I took it deep down my throat.

Altogether I was bonked about six or seven times, but I lost count of the number of orgasms I had.

Later my partner said what a turn-on it was for him seeing me get it from another man.

He wants to do it again, but I'm thinking word will get around and I'll be labelled a slut. What do you think?

DR, south Yorkshire

Tess says...

SEX should be fun, so carry on having a good time with your fella and his mate.

Dear Tess,

I WAS devastated when I split up with my girlfriend after four years together.

About a week after the split, I was surprised to get a visit from her mum.

She said she had come to tell me how upset she was at the break-up.

We shared a few bottles of wine and, as the night wore on, it became obvious she was coming on to me.

I'd often thought about shagging her – she's 45, blonde, and has got a great body.

So when she put her hand down my pants, I thought I'd go for it.

She told me how horny she was feeling as she took her clothes off and wrapped her boobs around my cock.

She then sucked my throbbing Johnson until I shot my wad all over her massive mammaries.

Since then we've had a couple more sessions and I was quite happy with the arrangement – until my ex told me she wanted to give our relationship another try.

I agreed because I love her, but I feel so guilty. When we visit her mum, the atmosphere is terrible.

We are now engaged, but I don't think I could marry her, not with this secret in the background.

What should I do?

DB, Teesside

Tess says...

YOU'VE nothing to feel guilty about. Technically, you were single at the time you were seeing her mum.

Nympho lover has knackered me out

Dear Tess,

MY girlfriend is amazing and I really love living with her.

But my problem with her is that she is a raving nymphomaniac and I am finding it very difficult keeping up with her sex drive.

I work hard at my job and when I get home late at night I'm usually pretty knackered.

But as soon as I walk in the door she's there, in the front room, lying naked on the rug exposing her moist, shaven fanny and with a daft grin on her face.

She won't even let me take my boots off before she's got my dick out – slobbering all over it and sucking on my swollen balls before straddling my length and riding me hard.

Sex slave

It's the same story all evening. I hardly get a moment to have some food or watch telly until we go to bed at around 11pm.

And even then it's sex and more sex until eventually, at something like 2am, she falls asleep and I finally get some peace.

But I have to be up again at 7am, so I'm always shattered.

I don't know whether I can take much more of being her sex slave. What can I do to satisfy my girlfriend's desire?

MC, Essex

BUSTY Charlie Rose admits she loves nothing more than a spot of sunbathing NAKED!

The dark-haired beauty confessed that she always goes topless on sunny afternoons during the summer months to avoid tan lines.

And Charlie, from Islington in north London, reckons her stunning exhibitionist display is the perfect way to attract blokes.

The 34D scorcher said: "I love feeling the heat of the sun on my bare body."

"When I'm relaxing nude at the beach, all the guys start checking me out - which isn't surprising!"

And Charlie isn't shy about mixing sun, sea and sand with sex when she's in the mood for some hot action.

She added: "Most fellas don't think they have a chance with me, but I'm actually very fun and flirty."

"I'm definitely up for a holiday romance. You're away from home, so why not?"

Chloe, who boasts pert 32B boobs, says she loves a dominant fella who takes control in the bedroom.

And she enjoys role play where she plays hard to get and resists his advances.

The Croydon babe said: "There is nothing hotter than a dominant man. I get so turned on by being bossed about in the bedroom."

"It depends on my mood in that moment. Sometimes I love being really submissive and eager to please."

"Having my bloke instruct me on how to lick and suck his cock, or at what pace to ride him, will make me climax faster than I can say 'Yes, Master!'"

"I like a bit of bondage too... whips, chains, handcuffs, all that stuff."

"Getting to play in a fully kitted-out dungeon would be heaven."

"I love the power games!"

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

LEILANI DOWLING

PRESTON plumber Shaun McDermott asked for the "sexiest photo we could find" of glamour legend Leilani, from Bournemouth.

Shaun, 36, said: "Me and the lads always chip in to buy Midweek Sport to read on our brew breaks, but we haven't seen that Leilani in the paper for years!

"Could you whack a picture of her in soon for us please?"

No probs, Shaun. Enjoy lovely Leilani flaunting her 34Bs.

Haven't seen your favourite model for a while? Drop us a note and we'll put her in the paper!

Email request@sundaysport.co.uk

DIANA DOLL

DISHY Diana Doll was the pick of Geordie lad Simon Thornton, who thinks it's been far too long since he last saw her in the Midweek Sport.

Amateur referee Simon, 32, said Diana's 34C bosoms were the reason he started buying the paper and he always hopes for a glimpse of them.

Well Simon, we hope this saucy snap of Watford scorcher Dian helps keep you fit!

GAIL McKENNA

CABBIE Tony Parker did things the old fashioned way and put pen to paper to request this snap of 32D stunna Gail.

Tony reckons that Gail, from Ealing, north London, is overlooked as one of the fittest ever boobs-out models.

The 49-year-old, from Brighton, said: "Gail has that sweet innocent look in her eyes, but I know she'd run rings around me in the bedroom."

"She is a gorgeous girl and has a cracking pair!"

THIS WEEK IN SPORT HISTORY

- 1967: Foinavon became a 100-1 winner of the Grand National at Aintree. He avoided a pile-up at the 23rd fence, which caused most of the field to fall or refuse, to come home a comfortable winner.
- 1990: Nick Faldo won his second successive Masters title. For the second year running, the competition went to a play-off - Faldo again winning at the second extra hole, this time at the expense of Raymond Floyd.
- 2002: The Scottish Premier League's plan to launch its own television channel collapsed. The SPL had hoped to set up a station after rejecting BSkyB's offer to broadcast its games live, but the 12 top-flight clubs failed to agree on proposals for a new channel.
- 2003: On the day Manchester United were humbled 3-1 by Real Madrid at the Bernabeu, Sir Alex Ferguson was charged by UEFA with bringing the game into disrepute following his claim the Champions League draw was fixed.
- 2012: Sir Chris Hoy won gold in the men's keirin at the Track Cycling World Championships in Melbourne.
- 2015: Paul Downton left his position as managing director of England Cricket.
- 2017: Nicola Adams sailed through her professional boxing debut with a 40-36 points win over Virginia Carcamo of Argentina at the Manchester Arena.
- 2018: Patrick Reed won the Masters, finishing one stroke ahead of fellow American Rickie Fowler at Augusta. Rory McIlroy, who had been second overnight, faded to finish in joint fifth on nine under, six shots behind Reed.
- 2019: Former England rugby union winger Christian Wade signed a deal with the NFL's Buffalo Bills. He returned in 2022 with Racing 92 having never made his NFL debut and currently plays for Gloucester.
- 2020: Premier League stars joined forces to create an initiative called #PlayersTogether, which aimed to raise funds with their partner - NHS Charities Together.
- 2022: Ellen White scored her 50th England goal and Beth Mead hit four as the Lionesses roared a step closer to the World Cup with a 10-0 victory over North Macedonia.
- 2023: Tottenham's Son Heung-min became the Premier League's 34th centurion, netting his 100th goal in the competition in a 2-1 win over Brighton.
- 2024: Everton were given an immediate two-point deduction for a breach of the Premier League's profitability and sustainability rules for the period ending season 2022-23.

Make Al your pal at Nottingham

AL QAREEM has the class to give weight and a beating to his rivals in the Barry Hills Further Flight Stakes at Nottingham.

Karl Burke's charge is penalised 5lb for last October's Group Three Cumberland Lodge defeat of the equally consistent Al Aasy at Ascot but that form puts him a cut above this Listed-level company.

The six-year-old has an excellent overall record of eight wins and the same number of seconds from 27 outings and rarely runs a bad race.

Valuable

He signed off last season with a Group One fourth in the Prix Royal-Oak at Saint-Cloud and should strip fitter for a recent return to the same track, when just losing out on second place in the closing stages.

Stablemate Looking For Lynda is taken to return to winning ways in the Join Racing TV Now Handicap.

The five-year-old failed to score last season but ran several excellent races in defeat, being placed in the Dash at Epsom and a couple of valuable York contests.

Having blown away the cobwebs at Musselburgh, he looks on a very manageable mark, especially with Jack Nicholls taking off a valuable 7lb, and could be sharpened up by wearing blinkers for the first time.

Harry Eustace introduces an interesting newcomer in Sea Of Kings in the Ladies Day 10th May "Confined" Maiden Stakes.

This £250,000 son of Sea The Stars is a full-brother to Irish Oaks winner Sea Of Class, while his dam Holy Moon has also produced a couple of Group One victors in Italy.

Cosmic Year will be the star attraction on Kempton's evening all-weather card when he reappears in the Unibet Novice Stakes.

Harry Charlton's colt created a huge impression when romping home by six and a half lengths from odds-on favourite Rock d'Oro on his sole juvenile start at Sandown in September.

A son of Kingman and Group One-winning mare Passage Of Time, which makes him a half-brother to top-class performer Time Test, Cosmic Year is just 10-1 at best for next month's 2000 Guineas.

Half an hour earlier, Life Is Beautiful will seek to build on last November's promising course and distance success by taking the Free Bet With Unibet's Betbuilder Rebound Fillies' Novice Stakes on her three-year-old bow.

John and Thady Gosden's charge showed clear signs of greenness here but ultimately came through to win what looked a hot maiden in a most taking manner.

At Catterick, Tawasol can recoup the losses of his Wolverhampton second over the Christmas period in the Visit racingtv.com Novice Stakes, with Simon and Ed Crisford's three-year-old having run on well after a troubled passage that day. Over the jumps, Florencethemachine is fancied to get back on track in the Taunton Round Table Handicap Hurdle, having disappointed over fences here in mid-December.

The seven-year-old had previously made all in good style at Exeter and was twice a winner over the smaller obstacles last term, so she is worth another chance now the Paul Nicholls stable is in better form.

TAUNTON: 2.25 Orchestra, 2.55 Nardaran, 3.25 Phoenix Risen, 3.55 Spotty Dog, 4.25 Florencethemachine, 4.58 Unspeakable, 5.30 Big Boy Barney.

THE LATEST RACING NEWS

AL QAREEM

NATIONAL RUNNER DIES

CELEBRE D'Allen, who collapsed after running in the Grand National at Aintree on Saturday, has died after his condition deteriorated overnight.

Trained in partnership by Philip Hobbs and Johnson White, the 13-year-old was a 125-1 shot under Micheal Nolan and was pulled up after the final fence before then collapsing on the racecourse.

After receiving treatment on course, he walked into the horse ambulance.

Joint-trainer White said the veteran was "very much going the right way" on Sunday following an overnight stay at Aintree and he was later moved to a nearby yard to continue his recovery.

However, speaking on Tuesday morning, White said: "He had the best possible care, but he just took a downturn overnight and very sadly he's passed away. It's gutting for everyone, it's very quiet here this morning."

A statement issued by Aintree Racecourse read: "Celebre D'Allen was a much-loved member of Philip and Johnson's team and all of us at Aintree are deeply saddened by today's news."

"Those who look after British racing's equine athletes every day have a unique bond with their horses and provide the very best care imaginable. Our thoughts are with everyone connected with Celebre D'Allen."

KEANE PUTS IT ON BLACK

GERARD Keane is hoping to get two runs into returning stable star Crystal Black prior to a potential tilt at Group One glory in the Tattersalls Gold Cup.

The seven-year-old is on course to make his seasonal debut in Saturday's Tote Alleged Stakes at the Curragh and is also entered in the Coolmore Stud City Of Troy Irish EBF Mooresbridge Stakes at the same venue on May 5.

Keane said: "We are hoping to go to the two of them, I think there is a good three weeks between them. Then the main plan, if he runs well enough in either of them, he would go for the Tattersalls Gold Cup (Curragh, May 25)."

"That's the first half of the year over with then. If that doesn't work out, we will have to think of a different plan, I suppose."

Crystal Black won each of his four starts last season, including the Duke of Edinburgh Stakes at Royal Ascot and Leopardstown's Group Three Ballyroan Stakes in early August.

He was talked of as a leading Melbourne Cup contender before a setback cut short his campaign, but Keane played down the possibility of targeting Australia's most famous race this term.

The Meath trainer added: "The ground would be very fast down there and that wouldn't really suit him. He got away with it last year (at Royal Ascot), but he's a massive horse and you wouldn't want to keep running him on it. I don't know about Australia, but we will travel somewhere."

"He's in great form. He was supposed to have a racecourse gallop and he got a stone bruise, so we didn't get there."

"No matter where he goes first time, he will need the run."

"Obviously, it is a different kettle of fish this year with the company you are going to have to keep. If he isn't good enough, he is a Group Three horse anyway and he would pick up plenty of prize money, you'd imagine."

'LITTLE SETBACK' FOR FALLING SNOW

DONNACHA O'Brien's regally-bred filly Falling Snow has had a minor setback which may delay her return to action.

The grey is by Justify, sire of last year's horse of the year City Of Troy, and out of Winter, who won four Group Ones for O'Brien's father, Aidan.

On her only outing last year, Falling Snow beat Ballet Slippers, who is trained by O'Brien snr and won her next start at Ascot before finishing a fine third in the Fillies' Mile behind 1000 Guineas favourite Desert Flower.

"She had a little setback last month, not a big thing, so I'm hoping she'll still make the Athasi Stakes but there is a chance she might not," said O'Brien.

THUMBS UP:
Dan Biggar

Former Lion Biggar hangs up his boots

RUGBY UNION

FORMER Wales and British and Irish Lions fly-half Dan Biggar has announced that he will retire from rugby at the end of this season.

Biggar stepped down from the international stage after the 2023 World Cup. He won 112 caps and scored more than 600 points for his country.

The 35-year-old also toured twice with the Lions, playing in three Tests.

Biggar helped Wales win three Six Nations titles, including Grand Slam success, and he also captained his country.

He rose to prominence with the Ospreys, before moving to the Gallagher Premiership and a successful stint at Northampton.

Dreams

He joined French Top 14 club Toulon in 2022, where he will finish his career.

"There comes a point when you just know, and after 18 years I now know that this is the time to announce my retirement from rugby," Biggar said, in a video posted on his Instagram account.

"Rugby has given me everything, I threw myself into this game at 17, and it has given me a life I could never have imagined."

"I have lived out my childhood dreams for the best part of two decades, and I am so, so grateful for that."

"To my amazing wife Alex and my two beautiful boys, I can't thank you

STARTING OUT: in 2010

FAMILY MAN: Biggar now

enough for everything you have done for me."

"You were always there to pick me up when things were low, and have been by my side through everything when I have needed it."

"The real sad note for me, the one person who isn't here to say thank-you to is my mum, who sadly passed away four years ago. She was my biggest fan, and everything I have done over the last 18 years is because of her."

Looking back on his career, Biggar added: "There are a few moments I will never forget – whether it's my first cap for Wales, becoming a Test centurion and a Test Lion are extremely special."

"But the thing I am most proud about is being able to give my family opportunities in life. That's what means the most to me."

"It certainly hasn't always been plain-sailing and easy. Playing number 10 for Wales brought its own unique pressure and challenges, but it made me stronger as a person and a player."

"I also know that the last 12 months haven't quite gone as I had hoped with Toulon. It has been tough, and setbacks teach you a lot more about yourself."

"There is no real perfect moment to walk away, but this does feel like the right one. I am choosing to retire, which a lot of sportspeople don't get to do, when they are healthy, and I feel very grateful."

HARRY IN A HURRY TO BOOST ENGLAND

New skipper faces tough test

HARRY Brook has been named as England's new white-ball captain, succeeding Jos Buttler after a tricky time for the team.

Brook says he cannot wait to get started.

He added: "It's a real honour to be named England's white-ball captain."

"Ever since I was a kid, I dreamed of representing Yorkshire, playing for England, and maybe one day leading the team. To now be given that chance means a great deal to me."

"There's so much talent in this country, and I'm looking forward to getting started, moving us forward, and working towards winning series, World Cups and major events. I'm excited to get going and give it everything."

Key welcomed the move, adding: "I'm delighted Harry has accepted the role as England's white-ball captain."

"He's been part of our succession planning for some time. Harry is not only an outstanding cricketer, but also has an excellent cricketing brain and a clear vision for both teams that will help drive us towards winning more series, World Cups and major global tournaments."

Brook will begin his tenure with a pair of home series against West Indies, starting at Edgbaston on May 29.

Here, Midweek Sport looks at the most pressing items on the 26-year-old's agenda.

LOOK AFTER HIS BIGGEST

ASSET... HARRY BROOK

It has been a decade since England's limited-overs skipper was also a Test regular, with Eoin Morgan and Jos Buttler both focusing entirely on their own team. Brook is young enough and hungry enough to take an increased load but must be mindful of burnout.

England are desperate to reclaim the Ashes over this winter and cannot afford to take their eyes off the prize, meaning the odd break from Brook must be on the cards.

HELP APPOINT A VICE-CAPTAIN

Part of looking after Brook will be taking him out of the firing line occasionally, which makes identifying his right-hand man crucially important.

The nature of the schedule means Brook will surely have to leave the team in other hands at times, so finding the perfect accomplice is crucial.

The Yorkshire batter needs someone he trusts to carry the message in his likely absences.

He does not have to make the decision immediately, but the process of narrowing the field can begin at once.

Phil Salt and Liam Livingstone are possible options as players with no current red-ball role.

BRING BACK THE FUN

It takes a lot more than a smile on the face to win clutch matches at the highest level but Brook should lean into his own naturally sunny disposition.

For the last couple of years the limited-overs setup has been anxiety ridden, leaving players seemingly racked by fear of failure. Buttler too often wore those tribulations for everyone to see. Brook should make a virtue of his optimistic outlook.

SEEK OUT EXPERIENCE

Brook is part of a generation that has been fed a steady diet of T20 cricket, at the expense of consistent 50-over experience.

As recently as the 2023 World Cup, he even admitted he was still learning the rhythms of the ODI game and has played only 41 List A games.

As he tries to plug any lingering gaps in his knowledge he need not look far.

His Yorkshire team-mate Joe Root has played 215, predecessor Buttler tallies 257 and 2019 World Cup-winning skipper Morgan boasts 378. Brook should be tapping up all three for advice.

OFFER A CLEAN SLATE

A change of leadership offers a chance to revisit past decisions.

England need a couple of white-ball specialists to stiffen their skillset and that might mean looking at the recently discarded pile.

Sam Curran has been out of favour for some time and Will Jacks was never really backed.

Both might benefit from being told they are starting with a fresh page.

Others, such as perennial nearly man Sam Cook, should also be emboldened to push for selection in a team that needs fresh impetus.

PLAY NICE: Lando Norris

McLaren bosses tell drivers to be mates

RUGBY UNION

ANDREA Stella says his McLaren drivers must work together to KO challengers such as Max Verstappen before they can consider an inter-team title battle.

McLaren won the opening two races of the season – one each for Lando Norris and Oscar Piastri – which sparked talk of a scrap between the team-mates for the championship.

But Verstappen, bidding for a fifth successive title, won the Japanese Grand Prix to cut Norris' lead to just a single point.

Norris was unable to get close enough to Verstappen during a race which saw precious little overtaking action, with Piastri pushing his McLaren team-mate in the closing stages.

Piastri told his team he believed he could threaten Verstappen but McLaren did not initiate a switch.

Team principal Stella insists McLaren did not need reminding of the threat posed by Verstappen.

"When you have these indications from the track then maybe it reinforces the message that we do have to keep working well together," Stella said.

Strong

"Because before it becomes an internal business only, there is quite a lot of work to do to clear some of the competitors."

"We don't need these kinds of reminders because we talk about this every race weekend."

"We are here first of all to beat the other teams and put McLaren in a very strong position."

"When McLaren is in a strong position that is the best position for the two drivers to pursue their aspirations."

"That is very clear to the team and to the drivers."

McLaren were fastest in every session until the final seconds of qualifying when Verstappen's stunning lap grabbed pole.

Stella is confident they have the strongest car and hopes that is the key. "I think the most important condition to pursue both championships is having the best car," Stella added.

"When we are not in condition to win, finish on the podium and if in the long term you keep performing like this, I think this will be rewarding."

"Max at the moment is making the difference himself but it is very difficult to keep that up for 24 events in a season if you don't have the best car."

VENTER EYES EUROPE BAN

GLASGOW forward Henco Venter faces a lengthy ban after being accused of making contact with the eye of Leicester prop Dan Cole.

Venter has been cited to European Professional Club Rugby by match citing commissioner Adrien Menez following Warriors' 43-19 victory over the Tigers in the Investec Champions Cup on Saturday night.

Leicester reportedly lodged a complaint over the incident, which happened in the second minute of the match at Scotstoun.

Footage showed Cole had his arm around the back of Venter's neck before the South African's left hand briefly made contact with the face of the 116-cap England international while the pair were on the ground.

A disciplinary hearing will take place on Tuesday, before Glasgow take on Leinster in the quarter-finals on Friday.

If Venter is found to have deliberately gouged Cole, he faces a ban of between 12 and 24 weeks/matches. The punishment for reckless contact is listed at between six and 18 weeks/matches. Suspensions can be reduced for mitigating factors and showing remorse.

The 32-year-old is leaving Glasgow at the end of the season to join French club Brive.

DREAM WEEK FOR BUNTING

STEPHEN Bunting claimed his first European Tour title at the Elten Safety Shoes International Darts Open in Riesa at the weekend to complete a 'dream' week in Germany.

Bunting defeated Nathan Aspinall 8-5 in the final to lift his second trophy in four days, having won Premier League Night Nine in Berlin on Thursday.

The win, which comes almost 11 years since his European Tour debut, sees Bunting break into the top four for the first time and rise to top spot on the PDC ProTour Order of Merit.

"It feels unbelievable, it's been a dream week for me," said Bunting, who averaged over 101 across the tournament.

"I'm just so happy to get the win, I came in with a lot of confidence after winning my first Premier League night.

"Nathan didn't play his best there but I'm sure we're going to have many more battles.

"It's been a long few days but I love coming to Germany and playing in front of these fans," Bunting began Finals Day with a 105.51 average in a 6-4 win over Cameron Menzies, before defeating Karel Sedláček 6-2 in the quarter-finals.

DARTS

The semi-finals saw Bunting win a deciding leg against fellow-Premier League star Luke Humphries, before averaging 100 in the final to defeat Aspinall, who was seeking back-to-back European Tour titles.

"I ran out of steam in the final but I'm proud of myself to have made back-to-back finals," said Aspinall, who won his maiden European Tour title at last month's European Darts Trophy.

"My arm is causing me a lot of pain so I'm going to have a rest for a few days before Thursday's Premier League."

The PDC ProTour season will resume with Players Championships 11-12 in Leicester on April 8-9, before the European Tour campaign continues with the German Darts Grand Prix in Munich from April 19-21.

LEGEND: Kevin De Bruyne

City stars want big send-off for Kev

By PAUL THOMAS

RUBEN Dias says Manchester City's players are determined to give "unique and special" Kevin De Bruyne the send-off he deserves.

The 33-year-old star announced on Friday that he will be bringing the curtain down on his medal-laden decade at the Etihad when his contract expires this summer.

De Bruyne has won 16 trophies with City, including six Premier League titles and the Champions League, and could finish with a 17th winners' medal if Pep Guardiola's men go on to lift the FA Cup.

A semi-final with Forest looms at the end of April, with team-mate Dias hoping to give the Belgium star a fitting farewell.

"His legacy is unique and special," Dias said. "He's such an important piece of the puzzle and we've become very good friends during this time."

"We want to give him the best moment and memories but we want to end it the best way possible, for all of us of course, but especially for him because he deserves it for everything he has done and for the person he is."

"As a player, he will always be held dearly for all of us. It's about enjoying every second that we have left. There is still a lot to fight for."

City are battling for Champions League qualification as well as FA Cup glory, with the team fifth in the Premier League standings after Sunday's drab 0-0 derby draw at rivals Manchester United.

"It was a game to be strong and to suffer in certain moments," defender Dias said. "We take the point because it cost us a lot of work and a lot of fight."

"It wasn't easy to control because of the way they attack so wide and their transitions. "I must say, though, I love going through it with my team-mates because the way we fought for every ball, every transition, every reaction. I feel like our team was very much alive in that sense."

"Obviously, there was more to be there in being more dangerous in the second half and trying to win the game, but the way we fought until the end is what makes us who we are. We take this point."

GREAT SCOTT

Faldo fancies Sheffler to grab Masters green jacket

SCOTTIE Scheffler's return to form ahead of his Masterstitle defence is ominous for his rivals, according to three-time winner Sir Nick Faldo.

Scheffler showed visible signs of frustration with his performance as he finished 20th last month in the Players Championship, one of nine titles he won in an incredible 2024 campaign.

Rory McIlroy defeated JJ Spaun in a play-off at Sawgrass to secure his second win of the year and has accumulated 188 world ranking points this season compared to Scheffler's 72.

Promise

However, the world number one responded with rounds of 62 and 63 as he finished runner-up in the Houston Open, his last competitive start before seeking a third Masters title in four years at Augusta National.

Asked if that was an ominous sign, Faldo told the

GOLF By PETER LYLE

Midweek Sport: "Yes, yes."

"Great players get excited. You are playing regular golf but your number one thought, I can promise you, is Augusta. He probably had that since [last] July. You start thinking and preparing and gearing everything up."

"He will put his work in and double the rounds he is playing. The round he played at the Olympics in Paris [a closing 62] was blooming amazing."

"He has got a great ability to turn it on and make it happen."

"He will be in it even if he is eight shots out of it for a while. I bet he will find a way to get to the top of the leaderboard."

"The better names generally will come to the top at Augusta through the week. There may be a few names we don't recognise at the start but by the end of the week those [big] guys will be there."

"You can't really call it a two-horse race [between Scheffler and McIlroy] at all, but you've got to believe they will be in there lurking throughout the week."

Another player who Faldo believes could be in contention is US PGA and Open Championship winner Xander Schauffele, whose injury-hit season means he is not among the most fancied players.

"Lucky for him maybe, he can go in under the radar which is a nice thing," Faldo added. "He's definitely a danger man."

"He could win and then he's looking for one more [the US Open] for the grand slam. How cool is that?"

"He's had a quiet run for a while but he looks good again now."

Meanwhile, an emotional Bernhard Langer fought back tears as he contemplated making his 41st and final appearance in the Masters this week.

The 67-year-old German, who won the green jacket in 1985 and 1993, is still competing on the Champions Tour – and won the PNC Championship with son Jason in December last year – but has decided to call time on his playing career at Augusta National.

"It's very emotional," Langer said after highlights of his two wins were

Howe: We are up four a fight TOON BOSS LOOKING UP

GOT THEIR MOJO BACK: Newcastle celebrate at Leicester

NEWCASTLE boss Eddie Howe feels his side "look united" after they boosted their hopes of securing a Champions League place with a comfortable 3-0 victory at relegation-haunted Leicester.

The Foxes have now become the first time in Premier League history to lose EIGHT games in a row without scoring a single goal.

Confidence is low at the King Power and Newcastle jumped all over their hosts with two goals in 11 minutes courtesy of Jacob Murphy, his second coming after Fabian Schar almost scored from his own half with an audacious effort which bounced off the bar. Former Leicester man Harvey Barnes twisted the knife on his old club with the third goal of the evening but did not celebrate against the fans who used to sing his name.

Respond

United moved level on points with fourth-placed Chelsea with a game in hand and are eyeing up a return to Europe's top table.

Howe said: "It was a great start to the game for us. It was a brilliant first goal, brilliant execution of how we want to play."

"We stuck to our task. We were professional and it was really good to get a clean sheet and three goals against Leicester.

"That was a big question mark against us, how would we respond to the high (of their Carabao Cup win)? The players have responded magnificently."

"It's a tick in the box for our psychology."

"Early season there were games where we were frustrated by our output, by the effort."

"It was uncharacteristic. That had never happened before in my time here. But now we're in a good place."

"We look united. We have a purpose and we're trying to get there. We're where we need to be."

"Confidence is high at the moment, but there are areas we need to improve."

The Magpies now face the prospect of three games in six days, starting next Sunday with a home fixture against Manchester United.

Howe thinks it will be a challenging week with a "stretched" squad.

He added: "We've got three tough games and we've got to reset and upturn our performances again."

Manage

"The players are experienced. They've been through a lot in their careers. Three games in six days is going to be a big test for us."

"We're going to need everybody. The squad is still stretched. We tried to manage the squad today with the game in a good position."

Ruud van Nistelrooy failed to confirm whether he remains committed to Leicester after he guided the club to their worst losing run in history.

It would be a shock if he kicks off next season in the hotseat. The Foxes boss said: "It's very disappointing and if I speak for myself, with the intent to bring the club forward, so far it didn't work and tried different things and structures without results."

"It's clear what the most important thing, it's this club and what's best for this club and that's also what we need to discuss."

"I think for now it's been such a bad run of games, not getting results and not scoring goals for me it's time to recover from this first before I can say anything else."

HOOPS LOSS 'A KICK UP THE BUM'

CALLUM McGregor believes Celtic's unlikely 1-0 defeat by struggling St Johnstone was the kick up the backside they needed.

It was generally expected that the runaway Premiership leaders would get the win that would take them to within 90 minutes of retaining their title, but the league's bottom side emerged with three valuable points.

Celtic are still 13 points ahead of Rangers and remain odds-on to win the title and they face St Johnstone in the Scottish Cup semi-final in a fortnight.

McGregor knows what his role as captain will be in the run-in, starting with the home game against Kilmarnock next week.

The midfielder said: "It's trying to guard against as much complacency as possible."

"It's trying to get the most out of the players, trying to lead by example of the senior players when we get to the pitch, we have to drive the intensity of the whole thing, which to be fair, in the main, we've done really well, although it was obviously a sore one on Sunday."

"Sometimes football has got a funny way to keep you honest and with so much football to be played then that's a little reminder that you have to be on it every minute of every game."

"It's inevitable some of the noise will probably seep in, but it's our job to try and make sure that we are professional and we do the job that's in front of us and then we can enjoy it once we've actually crossed the line."

"There's a tough semi-final. You see that on Sunday. It's the perfect example."

"We have to be razor sharp in the next five, six, seven weeks to make sure we end up where we think we will, but we have got to do that. We've put ourselves in an unbelievable position with so many games to go."

"People then start thinking it's inevitable that you're just going to turn up and it's going to happen and that's the bit where we give away the goal and then because of the way the game turns out, then that's the way it looks and it's not a good look."

"So we have to snap out of that straight away."

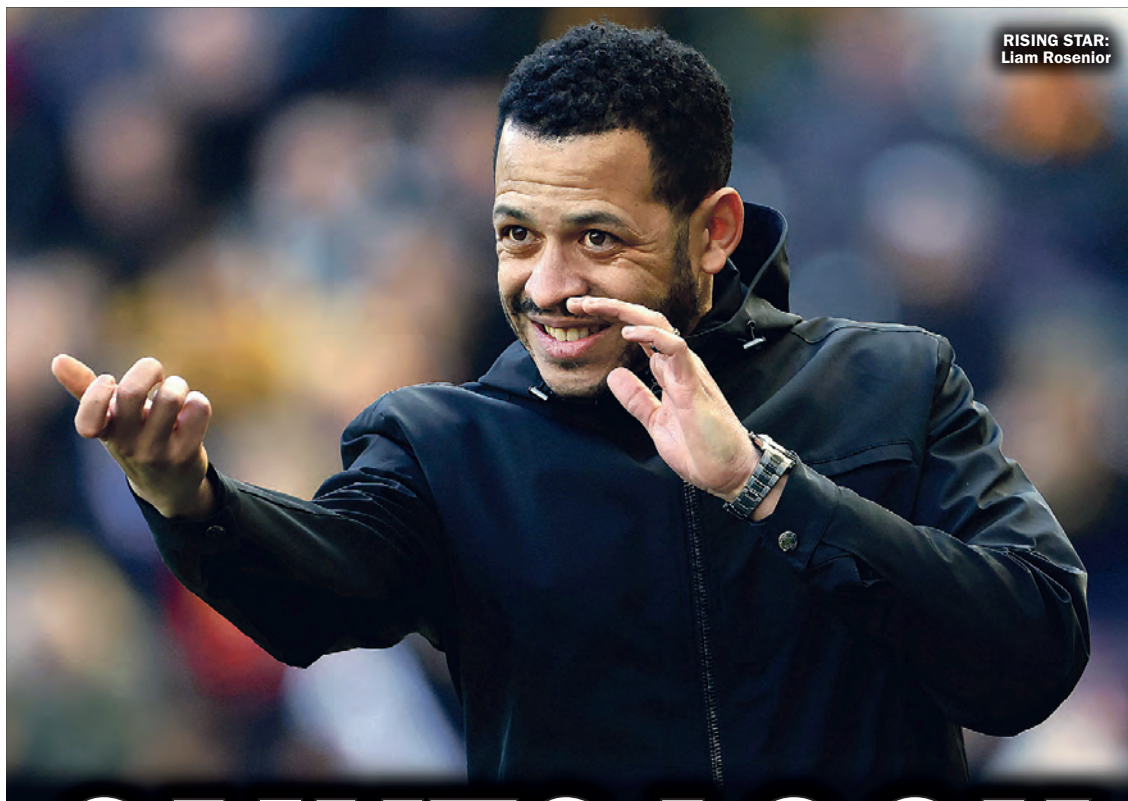

"And next week we have to perform better for 90 minutes, get the win and then see where that takes us. It's difficult to get over the line when you're so close."

SAINTS LOOK FOR A WINNER

Our look at the men who can replace Juric

By JOHN ANTHONY

SOUTHAMPTON are yet again searching for a new manager after Ivan Juric left following confirmation of the club's relegation from the Premier League.

Croatian Juric took just four points from 14 top-flight games at St Mary's, having replaced the sacked Russell Martin in December.

Southampton said in a statement: "Ivan came to Southampton at a tough time and was tasked with trying to improve a squad in a difficult situation. Unfortunately, we haven't seen performances progress the way we had hoped, but we would like to thank Ivan and his staff for their honesty and hard work as they fought against the odds to try and keep us up."

"The process of finding a new manager to lead us as we look to secure an immediate return to the Premier League has now begun and is being led by group technical director Johannes Spors." Here, Midweek Sport highlights some of the leading candidates for the vacancy as Saints, whose fate was sealed with seven matches to spare by Sunday's 3-1 loss at Tottenham, prepare for life back in the Championship.

DANNY ROHL

Sheffield Wednesday's German boss was initially linked with the position before the appointment of Juric.

The 35-year-old knows Saints well, having worked for the club during the tenure of Ralph Hasenhuttl.

Rohl, who also has spells as assistant to Hansi Flick at Bayern Munich and Germany on his burgeoning CV, has the Owls mid-table in the Championship on a limited budget after masterminding a great escape at Hillsborough last season.

LIAM ROSENIOR

The 40-year-old is impressively rebuilding his coaching career in France with Strasbourg following what was widely regarded as a harsh dismissal by Hull.

The Tigers, who are battling Championship relegation this term, missed out on the play-offs by just three points under Rosenior last season.

He currently has high-flying Strasbourg in the hunt for Champions League qualification, sitting fourth in Ligue 1, only three points behind Marseille.

STEVE COOPER

Out of work since being sacked by Saints' fellow Premier League strugglers Leicester in November, Cooper has an enviable record in the second tier.

The former England youth team boss guided Nottingham Forest to promotion in 2022 and then successfully kept them in the top flight.

The 45-year-old Welshman previously twice reached the Championship play-offs with Swansea, including losing 2-0 to Brentford in the 2021 final at Wembley.

SIMON RUSK

Firmly in the outsider category, first-team coach Rusk will oversee Saints' final seven games.

The 43-year-old had a brief stint as interim boss earlier in the campaign, securing a goalless draw at Fulham as the incoming Juric watched from the stands.

Rusk began his coaching career in 2015 as Brighton's Under-23s boss and then had a nine-month period in charge of Stockport before roles with the Football Association and Nottingham Forest.

JAMBOS IN EURO HUNT

NEIL Critchley says Hearts can still grab a top-five place and European football next season.

The Jambos – bottom of the league for much of the first half of the season – still have two routes to continental competition open to them.

One is by finishing in the top five of the league and the other is by winning the Scottish Cup, in which they have a semi-final against Aberdeen coming up.

However, the Tynecastle side slipped eight points adrift of fifth after losing 1-0 at home to Dundee United, and now face a battle with Motherwell – whom they visit on Saturday – and St Mirren to make sure they remain in the top six beyond the split.

Critchley said: "If we can get into the top six then we've got to play those teams and then we can take points off them. It's not beyond us, but we've got to get there first, so our first priority is to go to Motherwell and win next week."

Alexander-Arnold looking set to walk out on Liverpool despite joining as a child, Arsenal fans will be relieved to hear Saka's comments.

He said: "For me I want to win and I want to win wearing this badge."

"So I think it's pretty clear the fans know how much I love them. It's a good relationship and I'm really happy to be here and just focus on winning."

Saka is just working his way back from three months out with a hamstring injury.

His absence is a big reason why it looks like Arsenal will come up short in the title race with Liverpool. A lack of goals sees them 11 points behind with games running out.

But he did admit that if one good thing came out of the injury then it was a much-needed rest.

"The past five years I've been playing game after game, the first proper break I've had and it was really good for me," said Saka. "It's really nice to be back and I feel fresher."
